Compassion Games

Survival of the Kindest

Games begin Sept 11

Public Info Meeting tonight

Wednesday August 28 - 6-7:30 pm

Walker Room, Fayetteville Public Library

The Compassion Games are designed to help, heal and inspire, making our community a safer, kinder, more just and better place to live.

By participating, players are called upon to perform acts of service and kindness in our neighborhoods, on the job, in service-providing agencies, and wherever their daily journey takes them.

There are no winners or losers in the Compassion Games. Instead, winners multiply the more the games are played. Compassion Games and activities are designed to have social impact, to help us try new things, and build relationships and trust.

The Compassion Games: "Survival of the Kindest" is an example of a cultural invention that demonstrates what is possible when we use "coopetition" to cooperate to compete with each other.

Shall we play? Come find out more!

A project of the Campaign for Compassionate Cities, sponsored by Compassionate Fayetteville and the Fayetteville Inclusion Group.
