Open Mic Tonight !

7:00 pm @ OMNI

Peace songwriter and researcher
Lori Holyfield featured tonight

Don't miss
Lori

Our last Omni Open Mic for peace for 2013 is this

Sunday, December 1st at 7:00pm and our featured artist is none other than Lori Holyfield!

Lori is a wonderful singer/songwriter with deep roots in NWA. She has written many original songs of peace and justice. In fact, she was a winner at the Walnut Valley NewSong Showcase in the 'Better World' category.

Following Lori, we will have our regular open mic and all are welcome to contribute. Come and join us. It's a great way to kick off the holiday season!

Climate Reality Project

OMNI 350 Book Forum

Sunday Dec 1 -- 1:30 pm @ Fay Public Library

Joanna Pollock reports on the latest view from the Climate Reality Project.

Previously, a presentation by Dr. Song Feng was scheduled for this Sunday's Climate Change Book Forum at 1:30 in the Walker Room of the FPL, to discuss climate changes in Arkansas, but this presentation has been postponed til March 2nd, at Dr. Feng's request.

A very timely forum is ready in its place. Joanna Pollock is giving a preview of a Climate Reality presentation, and talking about innovative and realistic adaptation strategies being prepared for this area. We will also show short videos of talks given during the recent Warsaw Climate Change Conference, where Naderev Sano, Filipino Climate Chief, began his hunger strike. There will be time left for discussion.

The OMNI Center for Peace, Justice and Ecology OMNI 350 sponsored Joanna Pollock in September to become a Climate Reality Leader. Joanna was trained by the Chairman and Founder of the Climate Reality Project, former Vice President Al Gore in Chicago, along with hundreds of others from around the world, to educate others about climate change and tackle the crisis head on. The Climate Reality Leadership Corps has hosted 23 trainings since 2007 in locations across the globe. There are now nearly 6000 trained Climate Reality Leaders in more than 100 countries.
