Open Mic for Peace

January 5, 7:00 pm at OMNI
Happy Holidays!

Our first Omni open mic for the year is coming fast-- Sunday the 5th, at 7:00.

Your host for the evening will be none other than Steve Holst and it is rumored that you may be subjected to stand up comedy.

Ever unpredictable, but always good, Steve's standup comedy will also be featured at this month's Ozark Poets and Writers Collective open mic on Jan. 28th.

And, as always, we want your songs and words as well. So, come on Super Bowl fans and help us get 2014 started off right!

Sunday, January 5th at 7:00 at the Omni Center
3274 No. Lee Ave, Fayetteville

Happy New Year!

Climate Change Book Forum
Sunday Jan 6 - 1:30 pm - Fay Public Library

Book - ENERGY: Overdevelopment and Technology and the Delusion of Endless Growth

Lolly Tindel and friends form a panel to discuss this amazing book.

Well-researched and strikingly illustrated, the Post Carbon Institute created this as a resource that will be valuable for leaders all across the country.

You will be glad you came to this forum. You don't need to have read the book to appreciate what you'll learn.

Citizens Climate Lobby

Creating political will to end climate change

11:00 am

Saturday, Jan 11

(not the usual first Saturday)

Rescheduled for the holidays.

Citizen's Climate Lobby has been working for only two years, but they've got an incredible model for engaging legislators from many different political perspectives. They've grown from a dozen affiliates to nearly 200! And OMNI 350 is one of those affiliates.

Citizens Climate Lobby is pouring creative energy into getting a good energy bill through Congress that will feature a strong carbon tax... something that they said could not be done. Well they just might succeed.

If you'd like to know more about how this group works, and meet the local CCL team, you're invited. A potluck lunch is included, so bring something to share if you want.
