PEACE ACTION PETITION FOR ABOLITION OF NUCLEAR WEAPONS TO SEND TO Pres. OBAMA
|Kevin Martin, Peace Action to jbennet
www.Peace-Action.org
Peaceact@mail.democracyinaction.org

This past May about 50 Peace Action organizers, along with nuclear disarmament activists from around the world attended a conference on nuclear non-proliferation at the United Nations in New York City.

The conference was to help organizations and nations prepare for a five year Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty (NPT) Review Conference at the United Nations next spring. At the five year review conference, governments will assess the progress of the NPT, the most comprehensive international treaty on nuclear disarmament. And for advocacy groups like Peace Action, it's an opportunity to deliver our message in favor of the total, global abolition of nuclear weapons.

So, between now and next May, we're working to gather as many petition signatures as possible in support of nuclear abolition, hopefully millions between all the organizations working on the effort, to deliver to President Obama.

Sign our petition to support nuclear weapons abolition today.
www.Peace-Action.org

In addition to the international petition drive, Peace Action and our allies for nuclear disarmament and peace, from around the nation and world, have developed a coordinated international campaign. Some of the other activities taking place include........: Please help get our campaign off to a strong start by signing and circulating our petition today! www.Peace-Action.org

For peace and a nuclear weapons-free world,
Kevin M. Martin
Executive Director, Peace Action
Anti-Nuclear Weapons Organizations
These 10 US organizations are not our only groups dedicated to the abolition of nuclear weapons, but they are among the most innovative, energetic, and influential. And they are part of an international movement. This movement has been recently invigorated by President Obama’s campaign commitment to abolition. Leadership and organization are fundamental to change, but there is a third force, and that is the people. Pres. Obama and these organizations cannot achieve what we all desire without our insistent turn toward and passionate commitment to life. After eight years of living within a frame of deficits, we can now turn to a frame of possibility with the conviction that we human beings have what it takes in our best selves to make the turn away from fear to hope.

CONTACT PRESIDENT OBAMA AND SENATORS

Drew Hudson, TrueMajority.org to jbennet Jul 6

Dear Dick,

Obama's working to end the threat of nuclear war.

Tell your Senators to stand with the President and his call for a reduction in our nuclear stockpile.

President Obama just signed an agreement with Russia's leaders to begin reducing both countries' stockpiles of nuclear arms, and develop a plan for eliminating nuclear weapons from our world. It's a day we've dreamed of for years, and an essential step toward reversing the huge arms build up that began under President Ronald Reagan.

The new treaty may cut the number of warheads both the US and Russia stockpile by as much as a third. But it can't go into effect until the Senate ratifies it. Email your Senators right now and tell them to support Obama's new treaty to reduce nuclear weapons and make the world a safer place.

http://act.truemajorityaction.org/t/120/p/dia/action/public/?action_KEY=33

Obama's agreement with the Russians is intended to replace the Cold War-era Strategic Arms Reduction Treaty before it expires in December. If it's enacted, the new deal will cut the number of nuclear bombs each country can stockpile to about 1,500. That's still more than enough to blow up every major city on the planet but 73 percent fewer than we have today.

Perhaps most important, if the two countries that hold 90 percent of the world's nuclear weapons can agree on this deal, it may serve as a model for other countries to reduce their arsenals, and put us on the path to a world free of nuclear weapons.

A nuclear free world is a vision TrueMajority members and Barack Obama have been working toward for a long time. But we can't take this next step until the Senate gets on board. Email your Senators now and tell them it's time to reduce our nuclear arsenal by backing up OBAMA'S NEW TREATY.

TWO LETTERS FROM GLOBAL ZERO
From: Brianna <avaaz@avaaz.org>
Date: Thu, Jul 2, 2009 at 11:17 AM
Subject: Nuclear weapons: Global Zero is coming!
To: jbennet@uark.edu
Hello,
I have just signed a petition supporting the Global Zero declaration for a world free of nuclear weapons. I thought you may be interested in adding your name too.
The risk of military or terrorist nuclear attacks is escalating daily.
But, at the same time, one of the best chances to rid the world of nuclear weapons is happening. A group of influential figures called Global Zero is beginning to persuade the nuclear powers that the only answer to this global security crisis is the elimination of all nuclear weapons.
Please read the email below and sign up by clicking here:

Thanks!

Dear friends,
Whether in the Korean peninsula, in unstable Pakistan, or in the volatile Middle East, the risk of military or terrorist nuclear attacks is escalating daily. Yet one of the most real chances to rid the world of nuclear weapons is happening and will be won or lost far from the headlines.

Next week in Moscow, Presidents Medvedev and Obama could make history by agreeing to reduce their nuclear arsenals and set the world’s course towards a nuclear-free world. A group of highly influential figures called Global Zero has presented a four-step plan to achieve that goal and, though it seems incredible, they are successfully persuading the nuclear powers that the world is more secure without nukes.

What's needed now is a massive surge of people power urging the US and Russia to take bold these steps to achieve global zero. Click below to sign the petition and help deliver a deafening call to action. Global Zero leaders will hand it over to Presidents Obama and Medvedev:

http://www.avaaz.org/en/time_to_global_zero

For decades the disarmament movement has sought to rid the planet of nuclear weapons. During the Cold War, the efforts of citizens across the world played a key role in curbing the nuclear arms race, helping prevent nuclear war. But all too often their goal has been regarded as utopian and improbable.

Now, an alliance of the sound advice of security experts and the democratic force of citizens worldwide has a realistic possibility of achieving this goal.

Last April, Obama and Medvedev said they were committed to a world free of nuclear weapons. But it will require a massive concerted effort to press them to turn rhetoric into action.

In the face of a deepening crisis, the summit next week is a tremendous opportunity for human progress. Let's pile on the pressure to seize it.

Call to End the Korean War
Dear Friend of Peace:

We are writing to you in order to ask you and your organization to be a signator on our Call to End the Korean War Statement (Attached). We believe that the lingering state of war in Korea is a major contributor to instability in Asia and is a violation of the 1953 Armistice Agreement and United Nations Resolution 39/11 establishing a people's Right to Peace. In addition, the United States spends tens of billions of dollars in military expenditures and maintains more than 28,500 troops in South Korea in harms way.
We have attached our 10 REASONS WHY THE U.S. MUST SIGN A PEACE TREATY WITH NORTH KOREA to share with your organization, publish in your newsletters or further your education on this important issue of world peace. Also there is a letter to the editor that you can use with your local paper. Please also pass on the Call to End the Korean War to other groups and individuals who may wish to lend their voice to peace and constructive engagement.

With the recent trial of the journalists, nuclear test, US/ROK War Games and DPRK Missile tests, it is clear that peace must become a priority in Korea. A normalized relationship and a lasting peace treaty will have a major impact on world peace.

Please go to our website at www.endthekoreanwar.org and sign the attached Call to Action petition if you support our efforts. Also please circulate it to others who may individually or as a group sign on to peace. You may also wish to join in or hold a candlelight or commemorative event on the weekend before the anniversary of the Armistice signing on July 27th. Mark your calendars so on Monday the 27th you call the White House and State Department and let them know you support a peace treaty as a solution to move us forward. The attached “reasons” sheet can give you key talking points. Lets make the Forgotten War be the world’s newly discovered peace.

Sincerely,
Eric Sirotkin for the National Campaign to End the Korean War Coordinating Committee

10 REASONS WHY THE U.S. MUST SIGN A PEACE TREATY WITH NORTH KOREA

1. Technically and Legally Still at War: The Korean Armistice of 1953 temporarily stopped the hot war in Korea. A half century later, no peace treaty has replaced the Armistice Agreement.
2. Costly to U.S. to Maintain the Conflict: A Peace Treaty will save the U.S. billions of dollars annually which it now spends to keep 28,500 troops in over 100 bases in South Korea.
3. State of War Wastes Resources: Currently, North and South Korea spend $3 billion and $26 billion, respectively, on their military budgets. Irrational military spending diverts critical and shrinking resources necessary for human needs.
4. State of War Leads to Militarization: The state of war is the major source of tension in Korea. It is an excuse for massive military buildups by South and North Korea, as well as Japan and China. The threat of war gives North Korea justification to continue its Military First policy and develop nuclear weapons for deterrence, as well as crackdown on dissent. South Korea also uses the threat of war to justify its National Security Law to silence political dissidents. It also enabled the U.S., South Korea and North Korea to engage in terrifying military exercises.
5. State of War Leads to Ineffective Diplomacy: Without a diplomatic relationship, including appointing an ambassador and establishing an embassy in North Korea, no avenue exists to discuss thorny issues such as de-nuclearization, refugees and human rights.
6. Confrontation Did Not Work: The Bush administration pursued a hard-line policy of regime change against North Korea by including it in the "axis of evil" and threatening a pre-emptive nuclear attack under the 2002 U.S. Nuclear Posture Review. This policy of confrontation only backfired as North Korea developed and tested nuclear weapons and long-range missiles.
7. Peace Will Lead to Disarmament: With North Korea now off the state-sponsored terrorist list, it is time for peace. North Korea has clearly articulated its intention to give up nuclear weapons in exchange for a peace treaty, economic aid, and a security guarantee from the U.S.

8. Peace Will Promote Truth & Reconciliation: Peace will create the necessary space and freedom for all nations to discuss the horrors of the Korean War and learn from the past. It will allow the healing of old wounds, and without peace, such pains will linger.

9. Peace Will Promote Peaceful Reunification: Both Koreas have Reunification Ministers and plans for federated or gradual reunification. A peace treaty will help save strained inter-Korean relations, and help the Korean people achieve a peaceful reunification of their divided nation.

10. Peace Builds Trust and Friendly Relations: Peace will lead to normalized relations between the U.S. and North Korea. Normalized relations are central to building peace, friendship and cooperation on the Korean Peninsula and in Northeast Asia. Over 155 countries have peaceful normalized relations with North Korea, including nearly all countries that participated in the Korean War. Normalized relations will make it possible for separated Korean American families to reunite with their loved ones in North Korea.

BOOKS
NEW BOOK

Confronting the Bomb
A Short History of the World Nuclear Disarmament Movement

Lawrence S. Wittner
"Wittner's outstanding book employs massive research . . . to show how concerned citizens . . . have altered the course of history. . . . Monumental." —Journal of American History

"Wittner's impressively researched, clearly written, and balanced assessment of the antinuclear weapons movement belongs on the shelf not only of every serious student of the nuclear arms race but also of everyone who is concerned about the safety of humanity." —American Historical Review

"The saga of the world disarmament movement, whose complex strands Lawrence Wittner has brilliantly woven together . . ., deserves the widest possible readership."
—Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists

Confronting the Bomb tells the dramatic, inspiring story of how citizen activism helped curb the nuclear arms race and prevent nuclear war. This abbreviated version of Lawrence Wittner's award-winning trilogy, The Struggle Against the Bomb, shows how a worldwide, grassroots campaign—the largest social movement of modern times—challenged the nuclear priorities of the great powers and, ultimately, thwarted their nuclear ambitions. Based on massive research in the files of peace and disarmament organizations and in formerly top secret government records, extensive interviews with antinuclear activists and government officials, and memoirs and other published materials, Confronting the Bomb opens a unique window on one of the most important issues of the modern era: survival in the nuclear age. It covers the entire period of significant opposition to the bomb, from the final stages of the Second World War up to the present. Along the way, it provides fascinating glimpses of the interaction of key nuclear disarmament activists and policymakers, including Albert Einstein, Harry Truman, Albert Schweitzer, Norman Cousins, Nikita Khrushchev, Bertrand Russell, Andrei Sakharov, Linus Pauling, Dwight Eisenhower, Harold Macmillan, John F. Kennedy, Randy Forsberg, Mikhail Gorbachev, Helen Caldicott, E.P. Thompson, and Ronald Reagan. Overall, however, it is a story of popular mobilization and its effectiveness.
